This year's contest ran over a single weekend from Thursday, January 23 to Monday, January 27, 2025. During that time, teams of three students researched, modeled, and wrote a solution to an open-ended real world modeling problem. The 2025 MCM was an online contest, where teams registered and obtained contest materials through COMAP's MCM Website.

The 2025 MCM problems represented a variety of challenging problems spanning the familiar to new. Each problem required teams to apply unique mathematical modeling skills to answer the questions posed. All three problems were created by the MCM Problem Committee, a unique blend of academicians and industry professionals with many years of mathematical modeling experience. Teams again had to be at the top of their game to excel.

For problem A, students were asked to develop a model that can extract historical information from the wear patterns on stairs. Even durable materials like stone show signs of constant use over long periods, offering clues to a structure's past. The problem asked teams to propose a model that can help archaeologists determine factors such as how often the stairs were used, preferred directions of travel, and the number of simultaneous users, while recommending non-destructive, low-cost measurement methods to validate their model. The challenge also extended to exploring how wear might reveal details about the age of the stairs, renovations, material sourcing, and patterns of daily life within the structure.

For the B problem, the students focused on developing a model of sustainable tourism in Juneau, Alaska, which is experiencing overcrowding due to a significant increase in cruise ship passengers. While tourism generates substantial revenue, it also creates issues like strain on local infrastructure, environmental damage such as the recession of the Mendenhall Glacier, and pressure on the local population. The model should account for both economic benefits and the hidden costs of tourism, exploring potential measures like visitor fees and limitations to mitigate any negative impacts. The teams were then asked to extend their model to show how it could be adapted to other destinations facing overtourism.

Problem C focused on predicting Olympic medal counts. Using the historical data provided, the students were asked to develop a model to predict future medal outcomes for countries in the 2028 Los Angeles games. The analysis should explore the influence of the numbers and types of events on medal acquisition and investigate the potential impacts of the home country and "great coach" effects on a country's performance. The students were asked to use their model to make projections on the odds of countries that haven't yet won any medals in the Olympics to win their first medal, and explain how insights from their model could inform country Olympic committees.

A selection from the Outstanding solution papers will be featured in The UMAP Journal, along with commentaries from the problem authors and judges. All 21,092 of the competing teams are to be congratulated for their excellent work and enthusiasm for mathematical modeling and interdisciplinary problem solving.

Major funding for the MCM is provided by COMAP. Additional support is provided by the Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences (INFORMS), The Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics (SIAM), The Mathematical Association of America (MAA), The American Statistical Association (ASA) and The American Mathematical Society (AMS). COMAP's Mathematical Contest in Modeling and Interdisciplinary Contest in Modeling are unique among modeling competitions in that they are the only international contests in which students work in teams to find a solution. Centering its educational philosophy on mathematical modeling, COMAP uses mathematical tools to explore real-world problems. It serves the educational community as well as the world of work by preparing students to become better informed—and prepared—citizens, consumers, and workers.
